Burdened Agency Travis Pickell, 2024-08-15 Travis Pickell explores the paradoxes of choice in modern dying and the ways Christian theology can aid in navigating the relationship between moral agency and dignity at the end of life Burdened Agency addresses the problem of death and dying through Christian theology and ethics In previous centuries death was something that simply happened to us To choose how or when one died was the exception not the rule However due to advances in modern medicine individuals are increasingly required to make concrete choices about the nature and timing of death Modernity with its emphasis on individualism complicates this further because we are increasingly bereft of cultural and religious guidance regarding death This gives rise to the phenomenon of burdened agency the predicament of having to make such difficult choices with so little to help us This engaging book offers a historical and philosophical account of the origins of our situation of burdened agency as well as a Christian solution to the problems that it raises Looking to theologians such as Karl Rahner Karl Barth and Stanley Hauerwas Pickell devises a radically countercultural approach to death and dying rooted in Christian theological commitments and enacted in the practices of baptism Eucharist and prayer

International Empirical Studies on Religion and Socioeconomic Human Rights Hans-Georg Ziebertz, 2020-03-06 Socioeconomic rights include rights with regard to social security labour and employment as well as cultural rights which may be regarded as a shield for the protection of human dignity especially of specific groups such as women children and refugees The enforceability of socioeconomic rights clearly distinguishes them from other rights These rights need perhaps more than others the support of civil society Because states have leeway in how resources are distributed civil society has a major impact on what resources are used to fulfil socio economic rights One of the actors in the public arena are religious traditions respective Churches Most of them have developed ethical standards for individual conduct and rules for living together in society based on their basic scriptures All three monotheistic religions Judaism Christianity and Islam are marked by a caring engagement for the poor the sick the old and the foreign From an empirical perspective the general research question of this volume is how young people understand and evaluate socioeconomic rights and to which degree religious convictions and practices are connected with attitudes towards these human rights Can religion be identified as a force supporting the human rights regime and which additional concepts strengthen or weaken the consent to these rights The richness of empirical data contributes to a better understanding how socioeconomic rights are legitimated in the opinion of more than 10 000 respondents in 14 countries
