French Defence Policy Since the End of the Cold War

Alice Pannier, Olivier Schmitt, 2020-12-27 This book describes the evolution of French defence policy since the end of the Cold War. For the past thirty years there have been significant changes to French defence policy as a result of several contextual evolutions. Changes include shifts in the global balance of power, new understandings of the notion of international security, economic downturns and developments in European integration. Yet despite these changes the purpose of France's grand strategy and its main principles have remained remarkably stable over time. This book identifies the incentives, representations and objectives of French defence policy. The authors examine the general mechanisms that influence policy change and military transformation in democracies, the importance of status seeking in international relations, the processes of strategy making by a middle power and the dilemmas and challenges of security cooperation. By doing so, the book raises a number of questions related to the ways states adjust or not their security policies in a transformed international system. This book makes French language sources available to non-French speaking readers and contributes to a better understanding of a country that is at the forefront of Europe's external action. This book will be of great interest to students of defence studies, French politics, military studies, security studies and IR in general.

The End of the Cold War and The Third World

Artemy Kalinovsky, Sergey Radchenko, 2011-04-19 This book brings together recent research on the end of the Cold War in the Third World and engages with ongoing debates about regional conflicts, the role of great powers in the developing world and the role of international actors in conflict resolution. Most of the recent scholarship on the end of the Cold War has focused on Europe or bilateral US-Soviet relations. By contrast, relatively little has been written on the end of the Cold War in the Third World in Asia, Africa and Latin America. How did the great transformation of the world in the late 1980s affect regional conflicts and client relationships? Who won and who lost in the Third World and why? Do so many Cold War era problems remain unresolved? This book brings to light for the first time evidence from newly declassified archives in Russia, the United States, Eastern Europe as well as from private collections, recent memoirs and interviews with key participants. It goes further than anything published so far in systematically explaining both from the perspectives of the superpowers and the Third World countries what the end of bipolarity meant not only for the underdeveloped periphery so long enmeshed in ideological, socio-political and military conflicts sponsored by Washington, Moscow or Beijing, but also for the broader patterns of international relations. This book will be of much interest to students of the Cold War, war and conflict studies, Third World and development studies, international history and IR in general.
