Ending Hunger Worldwide George Kent, 2015-12-03 Why does hunger persist in a world of plenty Ending Hunger Worldwide challenges the naive notion that everyone wants hunger to end arguing that the powerful care but not enough to make a difference George Kent argues that the central focus in overcoming hunger should be on building stronger communities It is these communities which can provide mutual support to ensure that people don't go hungry Kent demonstrates that there is not a shortage of food but of what Amartya Sen terms opportunities and that developing tight knit communities will lead to more opportunities for the hungry and undernourished Ending Hunger Worldwide challenges dominant market led solutions and will be essential reading for activists NGO workers and development students looking for a fresh perspective

Freedom from Want George Kent, 2005 There is literally a world of difference between the statements Everyone should have adequate food and Everyone has the right to adequate food In George Kent's view the lofty rhetoric of the first statement will not be fulfilled until we take the second statement seriously Kent sees hunger as a deeply political problem Too many people do not have adequate control over local resources and cannot create the circumstances that would allow them to do meaningful productive work and provide for themselves The human right to an adequate livelihood including the human right to adequate food needs to be implemented worldwide in a systematic way Freedom from Want makes it clear that feeding people will not solve the problem of hunger for feeding programs can only be a short term treatment of a symptom not a cure The real solution lies in empowering the poor Governments in particular must ensure that their people face enabling conditions that allow citizens to provide for themselves In a wider sense Kent brings an understanding of human rights as a universal system applicable to all nations on a global scale If as Kent argues everyone has a human right to adequate food it follows that those who can empower the poor have a duty to see that right implemented and the obligation to be held morally and legally accountable for seeing that that right is realized for everyone everywhere
