Energy cannot be created or destroyed. However, it can transform. Can you think of an example in which energy transforms from one form to another? A student that uses a flashlight. The battery in the flashlight changes and makes energy from one form to another. Light, sound, electrical energy is released.

Energy can move from place to place by moving objects, or through sound, light, or electric currents.

Energy can change from one form to another. It can be created or destroyed. It's about a transfer of the different energy. Transforming and creating energy. That the knowledge about what energy is and how it can be used to create energy. It's about energy.

Here are some other examples of energy transformations:

light	heat	and
sound/light	sound	electricity
mechanical/electrical	chemical	nuclear
radioactive/electrical	electricity	radioactive
