Journalism and Climate Crisis Robert Hackett,Susan Forde,Shane Gunster,Kerrie Foxwell-Norton,2017-02-17

Journalism and Climate Crisis Public Engagement Media Alternatives recognizes that climate change is more than an environmental crisis It is also a question of political and communicative capacity This book enquires into which approaches to journalism as a particularly important form of public communication can best enable humanity to productively address climate crisis The book combines selective overviews of previous research normative enquiry what should journalism be doing and original empirical case studies of environmental communication and media coverage in Australia and Canada Bringing together perspectives from the fields of environmental communication and journalism studies the authors argue for forms of journalism that can encourage public engagement and mobilization to challenge the powerful interests vested in a high carbon economy facilitative and radical roles particularly well suited to alternative media and alternative journalism Ultimately the book argues for a fundamental rethinking of relationships between journalism publics democracy and climate crisis This book will interest researchers students and activists in environmental politics social movements and the media

Creative (Climate) Communications Maxwell Boykoff,2019-07-04 Through this assessment of creative climate communications readers will understand what works where when why and under what conditions Climate Adaptation

Futures Jean P. Palutikof,Sarah L. Boulter,Andrew J. Ash,Mark Stafford Smith,Martin Parry,Marie Waschka,Daniela Guitart,2013-02-04 Adaptation is the poor cousin of the climate change challenge the glamour of international debate is around global mitigation agreements while the bottom up activities of adaptation carried out in community halls and local government offices are often overlooked Yet as international forums fail to deliver reductions in greenhouse gas emissions the world is realising that effective adaptation will be essential across all sectors to deal with the unavoidable impacts of climate change The need to understand how to adapt effectively and to develop appropriate adaptation options and actions is becoming increasingly urgent This book reports the current state of knowledge on climate change adaptation and seeks to expose and debate key issues in adaptation research and practice It is framed around a number of critical areas of adaptation theory and practice including Advances in adaptation thinking Enabling frameworks and policy for adaptation Engaging and communicating with practitioners Key challenges in adaptation and development Management of natural systems and agriculture under climate change Ensuring water security under a changing climate Urban infrastructure and livelihoods and The nexus between extremes disaster management and adaptation It includes contributions from many of the leading thinkers and practitioners in adaptation today The book is based on key contributions from the First International Conference on Climate Change Adaptation Climate Adaptation Futures held on the Gold Coast Australia in June 2010 That three day meeting of over 1000 researchers and practitioners in adaptation from 50 countries was the first of its kind Readership The book is essential reading for a wide range of individuals involved in climate change adaptation including Researchers Communication specialists Decision makers and policy makers e g government staff local council staff On ground adaptation practitioners e g aid agencies government workers NGOs Postgraduate and graduate students and Consultants

Evaluating e-Participation Georg Aichholzer,Herbert Kubicek,Lourdes Torres,2015-12-31 There is a widely acknowledged evaluation gap in the field of e participation practice and research a lack of systematic evaluation with regard to process organization outcome and impacts This book addresses the state of the art of e participation research and the existing evaluation gap by reviewing various evaluation approaches and providing a multidisciplinary concept for evaluating the output outcome and impact of citizen participation via the Internet as well as via traditional media It offers new knowledge based on empirical results of its application tailored to different forms and levels of e participation in an international comparative perspective The book will advance the academic study and practical application of e participation through fresh insights largely drawing on theoretical arguments and empirical research results gained in the European collaborative project e2democracy It applies the same research instruments to a set of similar citizen participation processes in seven local communities in three countries Austria Germany and Spain The generic evaluation framework has been tailored to a tested toolset and the presentation and discussion of related evaluation results aims at clarifying to what extent these tools can be applied to other consultation and collaboration processes making the book of interest to policymakers and scholars alike

Communicating Climate Science - HC 254 Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Select Committee on Science and Technology,Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,Andrew Miller,2014-04-02 The Government is failing to clearly and effectively communicate climate science to the public There is little evidence of co ordination amongst Government government agencies and public bodies on communicating climate science despite various policies at national and regional level to mitigate and adapt to climate change The mandate to act on climate can only be maintained if the electorate are convinced that the Government is acting on the basis of strong scientific evidence Ministers therefore need to do more to demonstrate that is the case and consistently reflect the Government approach in all their communications especially with the media The report also criticises the BBC for its reporting on the issue It points out that BBC News teams continue to make mistakes in their coverage of climate science by giving opinions and scientific fact the same weight The BBC is called to develop clear editorial guidelines for all commentators and presenters on the facts of climate that should be used to challenge statements from either side of the climate policy debate that stray too far from the scientific facts It is important that climate science is presented separately from any subsequent policy response Government should work with the learned societies and national academies to develop a source of information on climate science that is discrete from policy delivery comprehensible to the general public and responsive to both current developments and uncertainties in the science      Sustainable Coastal Management and Climate Adaptation David Wood,2012-10-03 Explores evolution of coastal management provides critical insights into contemporary experience understanding of coastal management in Australia Draws on contemporary theory lessons from case examples to highlight roles of research community engagement in coastal management Wood and Stocker at Curtin University      Geographica helvetica ,2011      Political Science ,2013      Information, Communication and Education on Climate Change Walter Leal Filho,Franziska Mannke,Philipp Schmidt-Thomé,2007 The United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change and its Kyoto Protocol are examples of what is being done      Combating Climate Change National Assessment of UK Forestry and Climate Change Steering Group,2009 This assessment presents a science based analysis of the current and potential capabilities of the UK s forests and forest products to contribute to the mitigation of climate change It shows unequivocally that 1 a significant contribution to mitigation could be made by maintaining and increasing the rates at which CO2 is removed from the atmosphere by the UK s forests the abatement of emissions 2 there are other major contributions that forests and trees can make for example in urban environments and 3 that there are areas where substantial research is required to assess and reduce impacts and to develop the contribution of UK forestry to the mitigation of and adaptation to climate change The report follows the IPCC convention of identifying key findings at the start of each chapter Authors have also identified research priorities at the end of their respective chapters and these proposals require serious and urgent consideration Gaps in understanding are identified and in some instances there is a clear requirement for more scientific evidence in order that uncertainties in the projected impacts of climate change can be reduced The driver in the new research programmes will be the need to enhance the contribution that UK trees and woodlands can make to a low carbon economy It is the expressed intention of the report to provide the detailed evidence required to achieve sustainable forest management under what will be complex and changing climatic circumstances      Public Understanding of Science ,2009 A forum for the emerging interdisciplinary field of public understanding of science this journal encourages open debate of contrasting and even conflicting viewpoints on all aspects of the interrelationships between science and the public      World Social Science Report ,2013      Ethical Corporation Magazine ,2008-07      Interdisciplinary Aspects of Climate Change Walter Leal Filho,Franziska Mannke,2009 Climate change is a matter of great interest and worldwide concern The latest evidences from scientific studies and official documents produced by the International Panel on Climate Change IPCC show that the challenges posed by climate change need to be taken seriously if they are ever to be tackled properly It is widely acknowledged that information communication and education on climate change are important tools in the search for solutions to the social economic or political problems climate changes poses But despite the fact that much has been written about climate change most works to date tend to focus on specific issues e g climate modeling forecasts as opposed to addressing the problem in an interdisciplinary way as it should be This book tries to address this perceived gap by providing a wide range of perspectives on climate change which goes over and above the traditional barriers seen among subjects It is interdisciplinary in nature and comprehensive in scope This book was prepared in the context of Climate 2008 www.klima2008.net the world's first scientific conference on climate change held on the internet and is one of the first outputs of the newly created International Climate Change Information Programme ICCIP It provides a long needed contribution to a better understanding of the interdisciplinary nature of the subject matter of climate change and offers an overview of some of the on going interdisciplinary projects and initiatives in this field taking place in different parts of the world Alternatives Journal ,2005 Canadian environmental ideas action varies Climate Action ,2007
