Lytle,Michael B. Stoff,Becky Berry,Mark Klopfenstein,2019 Cross-Cultural Encounters in Modern World History Jon Thares Davidann,Marc Jason Gilbert,2016-09-16 Cross Cultural Encounters in Modern World History explores cultural contact as an agent of change It takes an encounters approach to world history since 1500 rather than a political one to reveal different perspectives and experiences as well as key patterns and transformations It studies the spaces between cultures historically to help us transcend human differences today in a rapidly globalizing world The text focuses on first encounters that suggest long term developments and particularly significant encounters that have changed the direction of world history Because of the complexities of these encounters the author takes a user friendly approach to keep the text accessible to students with varying backgrounds in history Cross-Cultural Encounters in Modern World History, 1453-Present Jon Davidann,Marc Jason Gilbert,2019-02-08 One of the hallmarks of world history is the ever increasing ability of humans to cross cultural boundaries Taking an encounters approach that opens up history to different perspectives and experiences Cross Cultural Encounters in Modern World History examines cultural contact between people from across the globe between 1453 and the present The book examines the historical record of these contacts distilling from those processes patterns of interaction different peoples perspectives and the ways these encounters tended to subvert the commonly accepted assumptions about differences between peoples in terms of race ethnicity nationhood or empire This new edition has been updated to employ current scholarship and address recent developments as well as increasing the treatment of indigenous agency including the major role played by Polynesians in the spread of Christianity in Oceania The final chapter has been updated to reflect the refugee crisis and the evolving political situation in Europe concerning its immigrant population Supported by engaging discussion questions and enlivened with the voices and views of those who were and remain directly engaged in the process of cross cultural exchange this highly accessible volume remains a valuable resource for all students of world history Why You Can't Teach United States History without American Indians Susan Sleeper-Smith,Juliana Barr,Jean M. O'Brien,Nancy Shoemaker,Scott Manning Stevens,2015-04-20 A resource for all who teach and study history this book illuminates the unmistakable centrality of American Indian history to the full sweep of American history The nineteen essays gathered in this collaboratively produced volume written by leading scholars in the field of Native American history reflect the newest directions of the field and are organized to follow the chronological arc of the standard American history survey Contributors reassess major events themes groups of historical actors and approaches social cultural military and political consistently demonstrating how Native American people and questions of Native American sovereignty have animated all the ways we consider the nation s past The uniqueness of Indigenous history as interwoven more fully in the American story will challenge students to think in new ways about larger themes in U S history such as settlement and colonization economic and political power citizenship and movements for equality and the fundamental question of what it means to be an American Contributors are Chris Andersen Juliana Barr David R M Beck Jacob Betz Paul T Conrad Mikal Brotnov Eckstrom Margaret D Jacobs Adam Jortner Rosalyn R LaPier John J Laukaitis K Tsianina Lomawaima Robert J Miller Mindy J Morgan Andrew Needham Jean M O Brien Jeffrey Ostler Sarah M S Pearsall James D Rice Phillip H Round Susan Sleeper Smith and Scott Manning Stevens The Many Panics of 1837 Jessica M. Lepler,2013-09-16 In the spring of 1837 people panicked as financial and economic uncertainty spread within and between New York New Orleans and London Although the period of panic would dramatically influence political cultural and social history those who panicked sought to erase from history their experiences of one of America s worst early financial crises The Many Panics of 1837 reconstructs this period in order to make arguments about the national boundaries of history the role of information in the economy the personal and local nature of national and international events the origins and dissemination of economic ideas and most importantly what actually happened in 1837 This riveting transatlantic cultural history based on archival research on two continents reveals how people transformed their experiences of financial crisis into the Panic of 1837 a single event that would serve as a turning point in American history and an early inspiration for business cycle theory

Communities of Ludlow Fawn-Amber Montoya,Karin Larkin,2022-07-15 For more than one hundred years people have come to the Ludlow Massacre Memorial site to remember the dead to place themselves within a larger narrative of labor history and to learn about what occurred there Communities of Ludlow reveals the perseverance memory and work that has been done to enrich and share the narratives of the people of Ludlow and the experiences of those who commemorate it The history of the Ludlow Massacre encompasses the stories of immigrant groups women the working class and people of color as much as the story of that tragedy and the continued relevance of these issues creates a need for remembrance and discussion of how to make the events of the Ludlow Massacre available to contemporary society The book outlines recent efforts to remember and commemorate this important historical event documenting the unique collaborations in public scholarship and outreach among the diverse group of people involved in marking the 100 year anniversary of the Ludlow Massacre The chapters relate the tales of the stewards of the Ludlow Massacre the various communities that rallied together to keep this history alive and show its relevance including lineal descendants members of the United Mine Workers of America historians archaeologists scholars artists interpreters authors playwrights and politicians The book also offers tips strategies and cautionary tales for practicing engaged public scholarship The history of the Ludlow Massacre has been told as a tragedy of striking miners in the West that occurred during a turbulent time in US labor relations but it is so much more than that Communities of Ludlow explores the intersections of public scholarship advocacy and personal experience weaving these perspectives together with models for practicing public scholarship to illustrate the power of creating spaces for sharing ideas and information in an environment that encourages creativity open dialogue public outreach political action and alternative narratives Contributors Robert Butero Robin Henry Michael Jacobson Elizabeth Jameson Linda Linville Matthew Maher Yolanda Romero Taking Charge, Making Change Robert W. Galler (Jr.), 2025-01-22 Taking Charge Making Change gives voice to generations of Native people from Crow Creek Lower Brule and other reservations in North Dakota and South Dakota who shaped a school originally designed to foster Catholicism and assimilation Local initiatives and collaboration transformed the Catholic Stephan Mission boarding school into the Crow Creek Tribal School which now features both tribal traditions and American educational programs Through archival research and interviews with parents graduates teachers and staff at Crow Creek and the surrounding community Robert W Galler Jr places Native students at the heart of the narrative demonstrating multifaceted family connections at a nineteenth century on reservation religious school that evolved into a tribally run institution in the 1970s He shows numerous ways that community members worked with Catholic leaders and ultimately transformed their mindsets and educational approaches over nearly a century While recognizing the many challenges and tragedies that Native students endured Galler highlights the creativity collaborations and contributions of the students and graduates to their communities Taking Charge Making Change shows how individuals and families helped to found the school maintain enrollment secure funding and influence school policies Its graduates went on to serve with distinction in the U S military earn advanced degrees after college join and lead tribal councils in North and South Dakota help their communities push back against federal policies and continue to run their own education system
