of narcissism reflecting an emphasis on subjectivity in contemporary psychoanalysis. It contends that narcissism is an organizing principle for behavior, a major motivational force that can be healthy or pathological and that illuminates intricacies of subjectivity for both therapists and patients. It establishes the meaning of narcissism, then examines it as a developmental process and discusses the workings of narcissism as a personal perspective in the analytic hour and the supervisory hour.

Essential Papers on Literature and Psychoanalysis Emanuel Berman, 1993. In a draft attached to a letter to his friend and confidante Wilhelm Fliess, May 31, 1897, Freud develops an idea: The mechanism of fiction is the same as that of hysterical fantasies. He supports this thought with a brief analysis of the biographical sources of Goethe's Werther. A few months later, on October 15, 1897, Freud mails Fliess a detailed account of remembered events from his childhood that Freud believed underlined the universality of Oedipus Rex and Hamlet. Freud's foray into literature initiated the beginning of a new critical approach. In Essential Papers on Literature and Psychoanalysis, Emanuel Berman presents classic and contemporary papers written at the intersection of literature and psychoanalysis. In bringing these essays together, Berman traces the development of a discipline that has often been plagued by a polarization between self-confident, single-minded psychoanalysts reading literature as a series of case studies and literary loyalists who cling to manifest content or to the declared intentions of the authors, accepting them at face value and depriving the work of its emotional complexity. Berman covers the full range of old and new perspectives and presents selections from today's mature phase. This collection includes papers by Sigmund Freud, Steven Marcus, Patrick J. Mahoney, Donald Spence, Otto Rank, Ernest Jones, Ernst Kris, Phyllis Greenacre, Florence Bonime, and Maryanne Eckardt, David Werman, Ellen Handler Spitz, Jacques Lacan, Shoshana Felman, Norman N. Holland, Roy Schafer, Meredith Anne Skura, Gail S. Reed, Francis Baudry, Rivka R. Eifermann, and Bennett Simon.

Distinctly Narcissistic Valerie Raoul, 1993. Drawing on a psychoanalytic theory of narcissism, Raoul, French U of British Columbia, explores the social and ideological context of diary fiction in Quebec between 1878 and 1990, especially its relation to the decolonization of the culture. She analyzes the interaction of self, time, and writing, the cultural context of the works, gender identities, the recurring metaphor of giving birth to the self by writing, and other aspects. The excerpts are in French only.
