

ENGLISH COMPOSITION

The term composition (from Latin com- "with" and ponere "to place"), in written language, refers to the collective body of important features established by the author in their creation of literature. Composition refers to narrative works of literature, but also refers to essays, biographies, and other works established in the field of literature.

In Narratives

In narratives (primarily fiction), composition includes, but is not limited to,

- Outline, the organization of thoughts and/or ideas which is used to determine organizational technique
- Plot, the course or arrangement of events
- Theme, the unifying subject or idea
- Dialogue, a reciprocal conversation between two or more persons
- Characterization, the process of creating characters
- Setting, the time and location in which the composition takes place
- Descriptions, definitions of things in the composition
- Style, specifically, the linguistic style of the composition
- Setting tone or mood, conveying one or more emotions or feelings through words
- Voice, the individual writing style of the author
- Tone, which encompasses the attitudes toward the subject and toward the audience

In Rhetoric

In rhetoric (primarily non-fiction), composition is the arrangement and strategic use of written, oral, visual and/or digital in order to inform, persuade, or motivate an audience in a given situation.

Classical Rhetoric

Traditionally, oratory, or classical rhetoric, is composed of five stages, or canons:

- Invention, "the search of persuasive ways to present information and formulate arguments"
- Arrangement, "the organization of the parts of speech to ensure that all means of persuasion are present and properly disposed"
- Style, "the use of correct, appropriate, and striking language throughout the speech"
- Memory, "the use of memorization and practice of speech"
- Delivery, "the use of effective gestures and vocal modulation to present the speech"

Typically, in any speech classroom, these stages are still prevalent in the composing process. Other key qualities to be included, especially when considering oral audience and methods of persuasion, would be the rhetorical appeals:

- Logos, appeals to logic and reason, evidence and support
- Ethos, appeals to ethics, the speaker's credibility, trustworthiness, and morals
- Pathos, appeals to emotions, connecting with audience through shared feelings
