Essays in Architectural Criticism Alan Colquhoun, 1981 Essays in architectural criticism : modern architecture and historical change A. Colquhoun, 1981 Architecture Re-assembled Trevor Garnham, 2013-04-26 Beginning from the rise of modern history in the eighteenth century this book examines how changing ideas in the discipline of history itself has affected architecture from the beginning of modernity up to the present day It reflects upon history in order to encourage and assist the reader in finding well founded principles for architectural design This is not simply another history of architecture nor a history of histories Setting buildings in their contemporaneous ideas about history it spans from Fischer von Erlach to Venturi and Rossi and beyond to architects working in the fallout from both the Modern Movement Aalto Louis Kahn Aldo van Eyck and Post modernism such as Rafael Moneo and Peter Zumthor It shows how Soane Schinkel and Stirling amongst others made a meaningful use of history and contrasts this with how a misreading of Hegel has led to an abuse of history and an uncritical flight to the future This is not an armchair history but a lively discussion of our place between past and future that promotes thinking for making Le Corbusier, History and Tradition Armando Rabaça, 2017-05-01 The view of modernism as representing an epistemological break between technology and history and tradition has long been challenged Le Corbusier's work has proved to be an inexhaustible reference point in this debate This is due on the one hand to the legacy of nineteenth century historicism and on the other to his creative process of creation through destruction which as John Summerson has noted is comparable to the processes of avant garde poets and painters The contributions to this book explore particular episodes which bring to light both the operative role of the past in the creation of a new abstract synthesis and Le Corbusier's modernist historical consciousness They illustrate how the past participated in the modernist creative process of abstract art from the 1920s machine aesthetics to the late infatuation with myth They also shed light on the extent to which the operative quality of the history was framed by a comprehensive historical vision that took the form of metanarrative which neither the analytical studies on his architecture nor the synthetic approaches to his philosophical thinking should dismiss We Have Never Been Private Ioanna Piniara, 2025-05-08 This book serves as a provocative and thought provoking entry point into the exploration of housing typologies and urban forms challenging traditional notions of privacy and shedding light on the complex interplay between architecture individuality and community Piniara goes beyond a mere analysis of physical spaces encompassing narratives for the decolonization of housing typologies urging readers to reconsider established norms and envision more inclusive equitable and culturally diverse urban landscapes 1987

European Conference on Architecture Wolfgang Palz, 1987 Building Institution Kim Förster, 2024-02-21 Building Institution chronicles the expansion of architecture as a profession and discipline in the postmodern era Kim Förster traces the compelling history of the Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies which was active in New York from 1967 to 1985 Drawing on extensive archival research and oral histories he constructs a collective biography that details the Institute's diverse roles and the dynamic interplay between research and design education culture and publishing By exploring the transformation of cultural production into a practice as well as the culturalization and global postmodernization of architecture the volume contributes significantly to the institutional history of architecture Architecture Reading Lists and Course Outlines: Architectural theory and criticism, Urban design theory, Architectural history Georgia Bizios, 1991

Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1982 Architect Knows Best Simon Richards, 2016-04-15 The idea that buildings could be used to reform human behaviour and improve society was fundamental to the modernist architecture and planning of people like Walter Gropius Le Corbusier and Jos Luis Sert in the first half of the 20th century Their proposals for functional zoning multi level transport high rise living and machine inspired aesthetics came under attack from the 1950s onwards and many alternative approaches to architecture and planning emerged It was thought that the environmental determinist strand of the discourse was killed off at this time as well This book argues that it was not but on the contrary that it has deepened and diversified Many of the most prominent architect planners continue to design with a view to improving the behaviour of individual people and of society at large By looking at and interviewing major figures and movements of recent years in Britain Europe and America including Leon Krier Peter Eisenman Andrés Duany Jane Jacobs Robert Venturi and Denise Scott Brown it demonstrates the myriad ways that architect planners seek to shape human behaviour through buildings In doing so the book raises awareness of this strand within the discourse and examines its different purposes and manifestations It questions whether it is an ineradicable and beneficial part of architecture and planning or a regrettable throwback to a more authoritarian phase discusses why it is seldom acknowledged directly and whether it could be handled more responsibly and with greater understanding Richards does not provide any simple solutions but in conclusion is critical of architect planners who abuse the rhetoric of social reform simply to leverage their attempts to secure building commissions while being more sympathetic towards those who appear to have a sincere desire to improve society through
