Entropy In Urban And Regional Modelling Routledge Revivals:

Entropy in Urban and Regional Modelling Alan Wilson, 2011 First published in 1970 this groundbreaking investigation into Entropy in Urban and Regional Modelling provides an extensive and detailed insight into the entropy maximising method in the development of a whole class of urban and regional models The book has its origins in work being carried out by the author in 1966 when he realised that the well known gravity model could be derived on the basis of an analogy with statistical rather than Newtonian mechanics Subsequent investigation demonstrated that the entropy maximising method stems from an even higher level of generality and the beginning of the book is devoted to an account of its importance and use as a general modelling tool This reissue will be welcomed by a range of students and professionals from fields as diverse as urban and regional studies economics geography planning civil engineering mathematics and statistics

Building Capitalism (Routledge Revivals) Linda Clarke, 2012-12-06 First published in 1992 this Routledge Revival sees the reissue of a truly original exploration of the nature of urbanization and capitalism Linda Clarke's vital work argues that Urbanization is a product of the social human labour engaged in building as well as a concentration of the labour force The quality of the labour process determines the development of production Changes to the built environment reflect changes in the production process and in particular the development of wage labour To support these arguments the author identifies a qualitatively new historical stage of capitalist building production involving a significant expansion of wage labour and hence capital and the transition from artisan to industrial production Linda Clarke draws from a wide range of original material relating to the development of London from the mid eighteenth to the early nineteenth century to provide a complete description of the development process materials extraction roadbuilding housebuilding paving cleansing etc profiles of builders and contractors involved and a picture of the new working class communities as in Somers Town their living conditions population working environment and politics
