General J E B Stuart Chancellorsville Major General:

General J.E.B. Stuart at Chancellorsville H. B. McClellan, 2015-12-16 H B McClellan was a Confederate staff officer for the iconic cavalry chief J E B Stuart and wrote a contemporary biography of him shortly after the war Stuart February 6 1833 May 12 1864 was the most famous cavalry officer of the Civil War fighting for the Confederacy in Lee s Army of Northern Virginia until his death at the Battle of Yellow Tavern in May 1864 Although he was well known for his dashing ways Stuart was also brilliant in the role due to his mastery of reconnaissance and the use of cavalry in support of offensive operations While he cultivated a cavalier image red lined gray cape yellow sash hat cocked to the side with a ostrich plume red flower in his lapel often sporting cologne his serious work made him the trusted eyes and ears of Robert E Lee s army and inspired Southern morale The Life and Campaigns of Major-General J. E. B. Stuart Henry Brainerd McClellan, 1885 Rolls of the 2nd and 3rd regiments and of Companies B E F and K of the 1st regiment Virginia cavalry p 423 468 I Rode With Jeb Stuart H. B. McClellan, 1994-08-22 Major General J E B Stuart 1833 1864 was one of the Confederacy s greatest horsemen soldiers and heroes As early as First Manassas Bull Run he was contributing significantly to the Confederate victory he subsequently displayed his daring and brilliance in the battles of Second Manassas Antietam Fredericksburg Chancellorsville and Brandy Station the most significant cavalry battle of the war and Stuart s finest moment General Lee depended on Stuart for knowledge of the enemy for as he said Stuart never brought him a piece of false information But Stuart was mortally wounded at Yellow Tavern in May 1864 Not since the death of Stonewall Jackson had the South sustained so great a personal loss his rollicking infectious gaiety and hard fighting were sorely missed in the grim last days of Lee s army By all accounts I Rode with Jeb Stuart is the most reliable and persuasive portrait of Stuart offered by a contemporary and it is indispensable for any thorough knowledge of the great Confederate cavalryman I Rode with Jeb Stuart H. B. McClelland, 2017-01-23 Major General J E B Stuart 1833 1864 was one of the Confederacy s greatest horsemen soldiers and heroes As early as First Manassas Bull Run he contributed significantly to the Confederate victory he subsequently displayed his daring and brilliance in the battles of Second Manassas Antietam Fredericksburg Chancellorsville and Brandy Station the most significant cavalry battle of the war and Stuart s finest moment General Lee depended on Stuart for knowledge of the enemy for as he said Stuart never brought him a piece of false information But Stuart was mortally wounded at Yellow Tavern in May 1864 Not since the death of Stonewall Jackson had the South sustained so great a personal loss his rollicking infectious gaiety and hard fighting were sorely missed in the grim last days of Lee s army By all accounts I Rode with Jeb Stuart is the most reliable and persuasive portrait of Stuart offered by a contemporary and is indispensable for any thorough knowledge of the great Confederate cavalryman This book which is both biography and memoir is the richest source on the Civil War career of the plumed knight of the Army of Northern Virginia Major General James Ewell Brown Stuart Though it has been out of print for generations it is still read and has fairly won its way onto the shelf of classics of the war It is by all odds the most reliable account of Stuart and his horsemen left by Stuart's intimates. A reader who rides with Stuart through the Gettysburg campaign until the Confederate infantry is safely south of the swollen Potomac is not likely to forget the experience. In the light of McClellan's narrative the ancient wearying Confederate controversies over Gettysburg seem to lose a great deal of their importance. Burke Davis Introduction I Rode with Jeb Stuart Report of General Robert E. Lee, and Subordinate Reports of the Battle of Chancellorsville Robert Edward Lee, Jeb Stuart, Confederate States of America. War Department, William Henry Fitzhugh Lee, 1864 Report of General Robert E. Lee, and Subordinate Reports of the Battle of Chancellorsville Confederate States of America. Army of Northern Virginia, Robert Edward Lee, Jeb Stuart, Fitzhugh Lee, 1864 The Campaign of Chancellorsville John Bigelow, 1910 Report of General Robert E. Lee, and Subordinate Reports of the Battle of Chancellorsville, 2018-03-06 Excerpt from Report of General Robert E. Lee and Subordinate Reports of the Battle of Chancellorsville Also Reports of Major General J. E. B. Stuart and Brigadier General Fitz Lee of Cavalry Engagements at Kelleysville Also Report of Brigadier General W. H. F. Lee and Subordinates of Cavalry Operations of the 14th and 15th of April 1863 As in the first battle of Fredericksburg it was thought best to select positions with a view to resist the advance of the enemy rather than incur the heavy loss that would attend any attempt to prevent his crossing. Our dispositions were accordingly made as on the former occasion. No demonstration was made opposite any other point of our lines at Fredericksburg and the strength of the force that had crossed and its apparent indisposition to attack indicated that the principal effort of the enemy would be made in some other quarter. This impression was confirmed by intelligence received from General Stuart that a large body of infantry and artillery was passing up the river. During the forenoon of the 29th that officer reported that the enemy had crossed in force near Kelley's ford on the preceding evening. Later in the day he announced that a heavy column was moving from Kelly's towards Germana ford on the Rapidan and another towards Ely's ford on that river. The routes they were pursuing after crossing the Rapidan converge near Chancellorsville whence several roads lead to the rear of our position at Fredericksburg. E. B. Stuart](#) H. B. McClellan, 2014-09-13 Despite the fact that the Civil War was fought nearly 150 years ago it remains a polarizing topic for the country to this day. But among the most popular perceptions of the Civil War is the Lost Cause which romanticized the war's toughest and most famous fighters and continues to fuel the popularity of generals like Robert E Lee Alongside Lee no one epitomized the chivalry and heroism celebrated by the Lost Cause more than JEB Stuart 1833 1864 the most famous cavalry officer of the Civil War Stuart was equal parts great and grandiose leading the cavalry for the Confederacy in Lee s Army of Northern Virginia until his death at the Battle of Yellow Tavern in May 1864 Stuart was a throwback to the past colorfully dressing with capes sashes and an ostrich plumed hat while sporting cologne and a heavy beard But he was also brilliant in conducting reconnaissance and he proved capable of leading both cavalry and infantry at battles like Chancellorsville As the eyes and ears of Robert E Lee s army none were better despite the fact that he was only in his late 20s and early 30s during the Civil War far younger than most men of senior rank Nevertheless Stuart s tough fighting was and still is eclipsed by his reputation for audacious cavalry movements He embarrassed the Army of the Potomac by riding around it twice making him famous and embarrassing Union generals like George McClellan However Stuart s role at Gettysburg was far more controversial Given great discretion in his cavalry operations before the battle Stuart s cavalry was too far removed from the Army of Northern Virginia to warn Lee of the Army of the Potomac s movements Lee s army inadvertently stumbled into the Union army at Gettysburg walking blindly into what became the largest battle of the war Stuart has been heavily criticized ever since and it is said Lee took him to task when he arrived on the second day leading Stuart to offer his resignation Lee didn t accept it but he would later note in his after battle report that the cavalry had not updated him as to the Army of the Potomac s movements With his record and characteristics it has proven almost impossible for Americans to hold a neutral view of Stuart and it has been even harder to ignore him The Rebellion Record Frank Moore,1867 Annual Statistician and Economist ,1894 Final Report on the Battlefield of Gettysburg New York (State).
