General Traveling Salesman Purchaser Problems:

The General Traveling Salesman and Purchaser Problems Howard Kleiman, 2015-12-11 The classic traveling salesman problem asks us to find the shortest route that goes through each of a given set of cities precisely once before returning to the initial city. If A, B, and C are any three cities, the distance from A to C is always shorter than the sum of the distances from A to B and then from B to C. This is known as the triangle inequality. The general traveling salesman problem is obtained when the triangle inequality is not required. This would be the case when we place arbitrary positive numbers in an $n \times n$ matrix and starting with the first row we attempt to obtain the shortest or nearly shortest route going through each row number exactly once before returning to the first row number. Such a route is called a tour. This book provides original algorithms for the symmetric, asymmetric, bottleneck, and multiple traveling salesman problems. It also contains one for the traveling purchaser problem and three for the multiple traveling purchaser problem. A large example of the asymmetric TSP has been added to chapter 3. Theorems 7.1, 7.4 improve many of the algorithms in the book. For resellers, please contact CreateSpace Direct.

23 Problems in Systems Neuroscience Jan Leonard Hemmen, Terrence J. Sejnowski, 2006 The complexity of the brain and the protean nature of behavior remain the most elusive area of science but also the most important. Jan Hemmen and Terrence Sejnowski invited 23 experts from the many areas from evolution to qualia of systems neuroscience to formulate one problem each. Although each chapter was written independently and can be read separately, together they provide a useful roadmap to the field of systems neuroscience and will serve as a source of inspirations for future explorers of the brain.
