Geography Against Development Anwarul K. Chowdhury, Sandagdorj Erdenebileg, United Nations. Office of the High Representative for the Least Developed Countries, Landlocked Developing Countries and Small Island Developing States, 2006 Landlocked countries are among the most disadvantaged countries in the world This publication analyses the impact of geographical handicaps on the external trade and economic development of landlocked developing countries and identifies practical solutions to address them It examines the corridor approach for establishing efficient transit systems and outlines the challenges faced and responses of different landlocked subregions It considers major international conventions essential for securing freedom of transit and outlines international support measures for establishing efficient transit systems

Small Countries, Big Diplomacy Alounkeo Kittikhoun, Anoulak Kittikhoun, 2021-10-14 This book shows how small countries use big diplomacy to advance national interests and global agendas from issues of peace and security the South China Sea and nuclearization in Korea and human rights decolonization to development landlocked and least developed countries and environment hydropower development Using the case of Laos it explores how a small landlocked developing state maneuvered among the big players and championed causes of international concern at three of the world's important global institutions the United Nations UN the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN and the Mekong River Commission MRC Recounting the geographical and historical origins behind Laos diplomacy this book traces the journey of the country surrounded by its five larger neighbors China Thailand Vietnam Myanmar and Cambodia and influenced by superpower rivalries from the Cold War to the post Cold War eras The book is written from an integrated perspective of a French educated Lao diplomat with over 40 years of experience in various senior roles in the Lao government leading major groups and committees at the UN and ASEAN and the theoretical knowledge and experience of an American trained Lao political scientist and international civil servant who has worked for the Lao government and the international secretariats of the UN and MRC These different perspectives bridge not only the theory practice divide but also the government insider outsider schism The book concludes with seven rules for small state diplomacy that should prove useful for diplomats statespersons policymakers and international civil servants alike It will also be of interest to scholars and experts in the fields of international relations and foreign policies of Laos the Mekong and Asia in general

Recent Developments in the Law of the Sea Rainer Lagoni, Peter Ehlers, Marian Paschke, Duygu Damar, 2010 New developments in the uses of the sea have given rise to new questions in the law of the sea since the beginning of the second millennium and there are international endeavors to revise certain issues of maritime law The Seminar papers of which are collected in this volume dealt with some examples of these developments Participants were doctoral candidates of the International Max Planck Research School for Maritime Affairs and students of the University of Hamburg Addressed are the internationalization of marine natural resources the audit system of flag State's obligations rights of land locked and geographically disadvantaged States in the EEZ the reform of the European fisheries policy and finally the Rotterdam Rules which are deemed to alter the carrier's obligations in the law of maritime transport. A report of the Seminar's excursion to several maritime institutions in New York City is also included.

Contouring Human Development Mukunda Mishra, Soumendu Chatterjee, 2020-05-11. This book acquaints readers with a range of techniques to help them effectively identify, record, map, analyze and report on patterns in various dimensions of human development (HD) with spatial scales down to the village level. It is impossible to capture HD at the local and global scale with only a single index because differences in HD at the international scale are caused by general factors, whereas local scale differences are influenced by specific factors. This book offers a variety of methods for scientifically mapping HD at any spatial scale. It covers how to rationally select variables, how to test the models, how to validate the results and how to analyze them. For this purpose, it employs a case study on an Indian district. The socio-economic factors regulating the patterns of HD are now more complex than they were only a few decades ago, making it essential to incorporate newer models in order to successfully replicate the real world situation. Accordingly, the book offers essential methodological tools/techniques for mapping HD. It sheds new light on a handful of statistical, multivariate analysis and machine learning algorithms that are rarely used in the social sciences when dealing with HD, yet have sound mathematical and statistical bases. These techniques can be successfully used for predictive analysis in the earth, natural sciences, decision sciences and management disciplines and are equally effective in terms of capturing, predicting and projecting the composite HD landscape. This book will especially benefit two groups of readers: firstly, HD practitioners who want to find out why some areas are doing better than others by exploring the complex interactions of spatially linked variables with different HD parameters; and secondly, practitioners in other branches of the social sciences who are not concerned with HD but are looking for hands-on training with techniques they can apply in their respective field of spatial investigations.

International Maritime Transport Costs Gordon Wilmsmeier, 2016-04-22. Based on in-depth empirical research, this book develops our understanding of maritime transport costs, the maritime industry and the competitiveness of regions in a global market environment through a geographical lens. Further, the book uses a unique set of data that gives an extensive insight into Latin American international maritime transport costs and its determinants. This is a clear call for policy makers and port authorities to strengthen transnational cooperation in order to improve the development of the whole system of maritime transport, focusing on the causes that put regions at risk of becoming peripheral and uncompetitive.

The IMLI Manual on International Maritime Law: The law of the sea David Joseph Attard, Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Norman A. Martínez Gutiérrez, IMO International Maritime Law Institute, 2014.
