Moran, Patricia A. Bach, Sonja V. Batten, 2018-10-01 Designed for use by mental health professionals and graduate students Committed Action in Practice clearly conceptualizes committed action an integral aspect of acceptance and commitment therapy ACT and offers a deeper investigation of the first of the six core processes of ACT The book also provides comprehensive descriptions and insight into the conceptualization integration and application of committed action in therapy Committed action is an important part of the hexaflex model for acceptance and commitment therapy ACT the other core processes being acceptance defusion self as context and perspective taking values clarification and mindfulness In practice committed action happens when clients act in the direction of their identified values even in the presence of obstacles Written by Patricia Bach Daniel J Moran and Sonja Batten three ACT oriented experts and trainers who are highly prolific in the field of modern behavioral psychology Committed Action in Practice is a deep focused exploration of this core aspect of ACT With sections on the conceptualization application and integration of committed action in ACT you ll gain an understanding of how this process fits into the hexaflex model what blocks people from taking values based action and how to blend the committed action component of ACT with other evidence based therapies With this comprehensive guide you ll know just how committed action works in an ACT treatment plan and be ready to apply it in practice Bridging the Gap

Judy Hildebrand, 2018-06-19 The book opens a very important debate for the family therapy field At a ie of treatment rationing and standard setting it aptly draws our attention to an issue of increasing importance training the highest quality family therapists In addition it offers trainers and supervisors an invaluable howto do it guide to tried and tested methods of taking trainees through a programme of personal and professional development Judy Hildebrand is known throughout the family therapy who has always spoken for integrating formal aspects of with personal development and she has designed and run for courses in Britain and Europe for many years But the picture would be incomplete without understanding the effect that the exercises have on personal development and for this volume she is joined by Collette Richardson and Frankie Zimmerman two colleagues and ex trainees who have collated the experiences of a range of trainees from several courses and are able to complement Hildebrand s ideas with the voice of the trainee Principles of Counseling and Psychotherapy

Gerald J. Mozdzierz, Paul R. Peluso, Joseph Lisiecki, 2009 Research has shown that the most effective way to prepare students for practice with real clients is for them to learn how to think in a new way rather than simply learning and using a set of steps While there is much to be learned from what master practitioners do in their sessions there is even more knowledge to gain from learning how they think In this text the authors present a unique approach to teaching and learning the fundamental skills and interventions used in counseling and psychotherapy based on a nonlinear process of thinking that more accurately reflects the realities of mental health practice This nonlinear approach to therapy is based on authoritative research and a three level model of counselor experience that has been extensively studied Each domain is explored in great detail and numerous clinical case examples help paint a picture of master practitioners in action Engaging exercises also
