Domestic Pleasures A Novel:

Domestic Pleasures Beth Gutcheon, 2001-12-04 After her ex husband dies in a plane crash Martha Gaver is horrified to learn that the executor of Raymond's estate is Charlie the conservative insufferable lawyer who represented Raymond in their bitter divorce Yet soon after they reenter each other's lives Martha Charlie and their teenage children find they have more in common than they imagined as they struggle to rebuild their lives and that opposites really do attract Engaging witty and entertaining Domestic Pleasures is a touching piercing tale of love lost found and embraced once again Domestic Pleasures Beth Gutcheon, 1991

Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds Mathilde Vialard, 2024-02-26 Drawing on the recent academic interest in approaching health and wellbeing from a humanities perspective Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds investigates how the Victorians dealt with questions of mental health by examining literary works in the genre of sensation fiction The novels of Mary Elizabeth Braddon and Wilkie Collins two prominent writers of the genre often portray characters suffering from mental illnesses commonly diagnosed at the time among which are monomania moral insanity melancholia and hypochondria By studying the fictional works of Braddon and Collins alongside medical texts from the nineteenth century it sets out to investigate how these novels fictionally represented real mental sufferings This book considers the different mental illnesses the characters of sensation novels develop inside and outside the home as they struggle to define their own identity against Victorian social expectations It demonstrates how these novels fictionalised the crisis of the leisured upper classes who spent most of their time at home and found themselves at odds with a society that increasingly separated the domestic and working environments while also considering the impact that a lack of a sense of domestic belonging could have on their mental health Sensation Novels and Domestic Minds further analyses the extent to which domesticity in its excess or lack could afflict the mental health of Victorian men and women through the fictional representation of suicidal thoughts and acts in the novels of Braddon and Collins

Food and the Novel in Nineteenth-Century America Mark McWilliams, 2012-06-16 Food and the Novel in Nineteenth Century America revolves around the 1840 presidential election when according to campaign slogans candidates were what they ate Skillfully deploying the rhetoric of republican simplicity the belief that plain dress food and manners were signs of virtue in the young republic William Henry Harrison defeated Martin Van Buren by aligning the incumbent with the European luxuries of p t de foie gras and soupe la reine while maintaining that he survived on raw beef without salt The effectiveness of such claims reflected not only the continuing appeal of the frontier and the relatively primitive nature of American cooking but also a rhetorical struggle to define how eating habits and culinary practices fit into ideas of the American character From this crucial mid century debate the book's argument reaches back to examine the formation of the myth of republican simplicity in revolutionary America and forward to the popularization of cosmopolitan sophistication during the Gilded Age Drawing heavily on cookbooks domestic manuals travel writing and the popular press this historical framework structures a discussion of ways novelists use food to locate characters within their fictional worlds evoking or contesting deeply held social beliefs about gender class and race In addition to mid century novelists like Hawthorne Melville Stowe and Warner the book examines popular and canonical novels by writers as diverse as Lydia Maria Child James Fenimore Cooper Susanna Rowson Catharine Sedgwick Mark Twain Edith Wharton and Harriet Wilson Some of these authors also wrote domestic manuals and cookbooks In addition McWilliams draws on a wide range of such work by William Alcott Catharine Beecher Eliza Leslie Fannie Merrit Farmer Maria Parloa and others

Mrs. Radcliffe's novels. The Italian, The romance of the forest, The mysteries of Udolpho Ann Radcliffe,1877 Domestic Modernism, the Interwar Novel, and E.H. Young Chiara Briganti,2006 This book provides an analytical model for reading a large body of modernist works by women The authors document the publication and reception history of E H Young s novels make a significant contribution to the field of homeculture and show that the fictional embodiment of home in Young Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bowen Ivy Compton Burnett Lettice Cooper E M Delafield Stella Gibbons Storm Jameson and E Arnot Robertson epitomizes the symbiosis between architecture and literature or between the house and the novel

Domestic Pleasures; Or, the Happy Fire-side Frances Bowyer Vaux,2023-11-14 Reproduction of the original The publishing house Megali specialises in reproducing historical works in large print to make reading easier for people with impaired vision

The Ambivalent Detective in Victorian Sensation Novels Sarah Yoon,2024-04-02 The Ambivalent Detective in Victorian Sensation Novels studies how the detective as a literary character evolved through the mid nineteenth century in England as seen in sensation novels In contrast to most assumptions about the English detective Yoon argues that the detective was more often tolerated than admired following the establishment of professional detectives in the London Metropolitan Police Force in 1842 Through studying the historical and literary contexts between the 1840s to the 1860s Yoon argues that the detective was seen as a suspicious even mistrusted and disdained figure who was nonetheless viewed as necessary to combat rising levels of crime The detective as a literary character responded to the often contradictory values and aspirations of the middle class representing an independent masculinity and laying claim to scientific authority This study surveys novels by Charles Dickens Mary Elizabeth Braddon and Wilkie Collins alongside lesser known writers like William Russell James Redding Ware pseudonym Andrew Forrester and William Stephens Hayward This book contributes to the study of mid nineteenth century Victorian culture and connects with broader studies of the detective fiction genre
