Education Reform In Societies In Transition International Perspectives:

Education Reform in Societies in Transition ,2006-01-01 Framed against the background of educational change this book proposes to examine the relationship between curriculum change teacher professional development policy reform and the processes of educational change The main aims of the book are to 1 focus on educational changes and reconstruction in transitional societies that have undergone political economic and social change in the past two decades 2 provide a forum for the dissemination of research on education reconstruction and reform in transitional societies 3 disseminate ideas that enhance both the practical and theoretical aspects of educational changes in these societies 4 further knowledge and understanding of emerging trends and issues in education in these societies 5 reflect the realities of educational scenarios in each transitional society The book presents an in depth exploration of educational reconstruction in 15 transitional societies In each chapter the authors have provided an overview of educational processes in the country a distillation of education change or reform and or reconstruction in each transitional society Collectively the chapters in the book have attempted to contribute to a better understanding of the educational system in respective countries by identifying the challenges and obstacles the policy implications the teacher professional development needs and curriculum reform efforts Reforming Education in Developing Countries Izhar Oplatka,2018-11-12 Underpinned in the stream of thought named communitarianism Reforming Education in Developing Countries argues that developing countries need educational reforms that are tightly entwined into their cultural social and organizational contexts It questions the applicability of neoliberal reforms in developing societies through an analysis of the main elements of neoliberalism in education It highlights the critical role of the community and suggests new and alternative lines of thought for the practice of reform initiation and implementation in developing countries The book criticizes major neoliberal ideas in education illuminates the distinctions between current neoliberal reforms and the characteristics of traditional societies analyzes major educational ideologies in the developed world and emphasizes the key role of local communities in this world It proposes a dynamic model of reforming education in these countries that includes three major phases and integrates both modern and traditional indigenous educational purposes and values Evocative ponderings are outlined throughout the book to promote critical thinking and reframing of educators views towards educational reform and change This book will be of great interest to researchers and students in the fields of educational leadership educational policy educational change comparative education political science and sociology It will also appeal to educators supervisors and policymakers Citizenship Education in Conflict-Affected Areas Bassel Akar,2019-05-02 Citizenship Education in Conflict Affected Areas examines the practices of learning and teaching citizenship in Lebanon and explores the implications of the research findings for those working in other sites affected by conflict Bassel Akar analyses rich empirical data such as semi structured interviews with teachers and open ended survey packs with children in classrooms which reveal conflicts in notions of citizenship and pedagogical approaches These in depth explorations of classroom learning and teaching show the hidden and subtle factors that often subvert intentions to promote social cohesion and active citizenship through education Examining how individual conceptualizations of citizenship influence approaches to learning and teaching and vice versa the author argues that learning citizenship in schools can undermine aims of democratic participation dialogue and critical thinking He concludes and considers why classroom learning of civic education in Lebanon can actually be more harmful than beneficial Offering new insights for educators and policy makers working beyond the Lebanese context Citizenship Education in Conflict Affected Areas is a valuable addition to the research in this growing field

Language, Capital, Culture, 2007-01-01 Singapore has been taken by many researchers as a fascinating living language policy and planning laboratory Language and education policy in Singapore has been pivotal not only to the establishment and growth of schooling but to the very project of nation building Since their inception mother tongue policies have been established with two explicit goals Firstly there is the development and training of human and intellectual capital for the expansion and networking of a Singaporean service and information economy Secondly there is the maintenance of cultural heritage and values as a means for social cohesion and indeed the maintenance of community and regional social capital These tasks have been fraught with tension and contradiction both in relation to the conditions of rapid cultural economic and political change in Asia and globally but as well because of the tensions between the so called world language English and Singapore's three other official languages Tamil Malay and Mandarin This has been complicated of course by the challenges of vibrant regional dialects and the emergence of Singlish as a powerful medium of community life

Gender and Learning in Rwanda Shirley Randell, Hilary Yerbury, Astrid Escrig-Pinol, 2021-09-28 This book presents an unparalleled mix of aspiration and achievement of feminist theory and practice It does not claim to be complete or final nor is it a snapshot of a single point in time It falls into two parts One part containing scholarly chapters written academics involved in developing and teaching in the innovative Master's program in Gender Culture and development offered from 2011 at the Kigali Institute of Education in Rwanda. The second part contains statements written by students in the first cohort, most of which have been revised and updated. All the contributions are informed by a set of common experiences, but each writer presents her or his own perspective. This is most clearly evident in the short chapters written by the women who brought their diverse scholarly backgrounds together in their passion for the scholarly development of other women and men in an empowering feminist educational experience. This mix of experiences and the diversity of writings make the book a challenging read and an invaluable resource for anyone interested in research-based approaches to social change, the weaving of personal experience into scholarly reflections, and in insights into leaders in working towards gender equality, a policy area which affects social relationships throughout a society, including at the most intimate level.

AccessAsia, 1997 Education in Transition Rosarii Griffin, 2002-01-01. Reform and reconstruction of education in places as diverse as Chile, South Africa, and the former East Germany has highlighted the issue of education in transition. In cases such as these, there has been a rapid and profound change of political context from autocratic to democratic, and theory has been generated relating to this. Such cases are included here, but the aim of this volume is to illustrate the fact that all nations are in some form of transition, generated by a range of pressures and factors. Consequently, the contributing chapters are structured within three broad themes, with the consideration of such issues as market orientation and gender, as well as change arising from physical conflict. The resultant book makes a distinctive contribution to the understanding of relationships between policy making for educational provision and the realities of outcomes in practice.
