Research in Urban Educational Settings Kimberly A. Scott,Wanda J. Blanchett,2010-03-01 Results from quantitative and qualitative research studies have painted countless images of the unique features shaping urban schools including students experiences and how the surrounding communities affect the entire system Race ethnicity social class language power politics and public image operate as intersecting elements shaping the contours of urban school life therefore its documentation Little has been written about how researchers of urban schools and their constituencies effectively navigate these complex elements design a culturally sensitive and responsive project and acquire meaningful data What are some of the critically important issues a researcher should consider when working with urban schools What should be a researcher s commitment to the urban communities in which they conduct research How can a researcher develop a trusting relationship in an environment justifiably distrustful of outsiders These and other inquiries shape the contours of this edited volume As educators and policy makers take a closer examination at urban schools and their successes research of these unique settings assumes a more prominent role For academics both novice and experienced establishing and maintaining rapport within these environments often require greater attention than qualitative or quantitative research books accord Authors in this compilation share lessons learned about power privilege and their meanings as they pertain to conducting research in and with urban settings To this end four primary objectives guide this manuscript 1 To expand the conversation of urban school research to include multiple voices of culturally responsible caring scholars with a professed commitment to using research as an empowering tool for urban educational contexts 2 To provide practical accounts of what has and has not worked for individuals conducting both short term and longitudinal research in urban educational institutions and communities 3 To demonstrate the disconnect between classroom discussions of urban education and real life field experiences of researchers working in urban settings and 4 To broaden discussions of reflexivity by analyzing the complex journey qualitative and quantitative sociologists anthropologists teacher educators urban educators and special educators experience while negotiating and creating collaborative relationships with urban educators administrators students parents and community members

Postdigital (Re)Imaginations Petar Jandrić, Juha Suoranta, Marko Teräs, Hanna Davis, 2025-10-31 This edited volume presents the latest achievements of postdigital scholarship in the field of future studies Showing that current policy frameworks are dominated by capitalist imaginaries the book insists on the development of radically different futures This task is approached in five different ways The book begins with an overview of the many ways to approach postdigital imaginations as emancipatory practices followed by some urgent reimaginings of older ideas It moves on to critiques of current practices policies and imaginaries and develops postdigital research methods for the development of emancipatory educational imaginaries Showcasing some recent interventions in educational politics policy and practice it links presented work on postdigital imaginations with recent postdigital inquiry related to the geopolitics of postdigital educational development This book is suited for educators policy makers and any researcher fascinated by the unbounding of education from capitalist imaginaries and reframing it within an emancipatory future
