Delphi Collected Works of Ernest Bramah \(Illustrated\) Ernest Bramah, 2017-01-30. The humorous works of Ernest Bramah were as popular as the contemporary tales of Jerome K. Jerome and W. W. Jacobs, while Bramah's detective stories were published beside the Sherlock Holmes stories, and his politico-science fiction was often compared with the works of H. G. Wells. Bramah was a literary recluse, yet his innovative Kai Lung and Max Carrados stories continue to foster interest in this otherwise neglected Edwardian author. This comprehensive eBook presents Bramah's collected works with numerous illustrations, rare texts appearing in digital print for the first time, informative introductions, and the usual Delphi bonus material.

Bramah,2020-03-05 Max Carrados is a compilation of short stories published in 1914 by the English author Ernest Bramah It is the first appearance of the blind sleuth Max Carrados accompanied by his faithful but not always insightful Carlyle Carrados was created as a rival to Sherlock Holmes and quickly found a strong following amongst the readers of The Strand Watch out for our favourite short stories of this compilation The coin of Dionysius The last exploit of Harry the actor The game played in the dark Discover Carrados the once rival to SherlockErnest Bramah whose name was recorded after his birth Four Max Carrados Detective Stories Ernest Bramah Smith,2021-10-04 It was eight o clock at night and raining scarcely a time when a business so limited in its clientele as that of a coin dealer could hope to attract any customer but a light was still showing in the small shop that bore over its window the name of Baxter and in the even smaller office at the back the proprietor himself sat reading the latest Pall Mall His enterprise seemed to be justified for presently the door bell gave its announcement and throwing down his paper Mr Baxter went forward As a matter of fact the dealer had been expecting someone and his manner as he passed into the shop was unmistakably suggestive of a caller of importance But at the first glance towards his visitor the excess of deference melted out of his bearing leaving the urbane self possessed shopman in the presence of the casual customer Mr Baxter I think said the latter He had laid aside his dripping umbrella and was unbuttoning overcoat and coat to reach an inner pocket You hardly remember me I suppose Mr Carlyle two years ago I took up a case for you To be sure Mr Carlyle the private detective Inquiry agent corrected Mr Carlyle precisely Well smiled Mr Baxter for that matter I am a coin dealer and not an antiquarian or a numismatist Is there anything in that way that I can do for you Yes replied his visitor it is my turn to consult you He had taken a small wash leather bag from the inner pocket and now turned something carefully out upon the counter What can you tell me about that The dealer gave the coin a moment s scrutiny There is no question about this he replied It is a Sicilian tetradrachm of Dionysius Yes I know that I have it on the label out of the cabinet I can tell you further that it s supposed to be one that Lord Seastoke gave two hundred and fifty pounds for at the Brice sale in 94 It seems to me that you can tell me more about it than I can tell you remarked Mr Baxter What is it that you really want to know I want to know replied Mr Carlyle whether it is genuine or not Has any doubt been cast upon it Certain circumstances raised a suspicion that is all The dealer took another look at the tetradrachm through his magnifying glass holding it by the edge with the careful touch of an expert Then he shook his head slowly in a confession of ignorance Of course I could make a guess No don t interrupted Mr Carlyle hastily An arrest hangs on it and nothing short of certainty is any good to me Is that so Mr Carlyle said Mr Baxter with increased interest Well to be quite candid the thing is out of my line Now if it was a rare Saxon penny or a doubtful noble I d stake my reputation on my opinion but I do very little in the classical series Mr Carlyle did not attempt to conceal his disappointment as he returned the coin to the bag and replaced the bag in the inner pocket I had been relying on you he grumbled reproachfully Where on earth am I to go now There is always the British Museum Ah to be sure thanks But will anyone who can tell me be there now Now No fear replied Mr Baxter Go round in the morning But I must know to night explained the visitor reduced to despair again To morrow will be too late for the purpose

The Complete Max Carrados Vol 1 Eeneest Bramah,2025-09 Contains Max Carrados and The Eyes of Max Carrados I sensed that damning fact as soon as I had them in my hands Introducing Max Carrados the blind detective who relies on his profound sense of hearing smell and touch and of course thought to see what others miss This volume is the first of two boasting of all the Carrados stories from the very first tale The Coin of Dionysius that introduces Carrados and Carlyle to a whole host of stories that show Carrados solving mysteries involving rare coins murder plots spooky houses missing people robbery and of course murder most foul these are the only detective stories since Poe that are worth re reading George Orwell

The Knight's Cross Signal Problem, the Original Classic Short Story Ernest Bramah,2015-04-21 Louis exclaimed Mr Carrados with the air of genial gaiety that Carlyle had found so incongruous to his conception of a blind man you have a mystery somewhere about you I know it by your step Nearly a month had passed since the incident of the false Dionysius had led to the two men meeting It was now December Whatever Mr Carlyle's step might indicate to the inner eye it betokened to the casual observer the manner of a crisp alert self possessed man of business Carlyle in truth betrayed nothing of the pessimism and despondency that had marked him on the earlier occasion You have only yourself to thank that it is a very poor one he retorted If you hadn't held me to a hasty promise To give me an option on the next case that baffled you no matter what it was Just so The consequence is that you get a very unsatisfactory affair that has no special interest to an amateur and is only baffling because it is well Well baffling Exactly Max Your would be jest has discovered the proverbial truth I need hardly tell you that it is only the insoluble that is finally baffling and this is very probably insoluble You remember the awful smash on the Central and Suburban at Knight's Cross Station a few weeks ago Yes replied Carrados with interest I read the whole ghastly details at the time You read exclaimed his friend suspiciously I still use the familiar phrases explained Carrados with a smile As a matter of fact my secretary reads to me I mark what I want to hear and when he comes at ten o'clock we clear off the morning papers in no time And how do you know what to mark demanded Mr Carlyle cunningly Carrados's right hand lying idly on the table moved to a newspaper near He ran his finger along a column heading his eyes still turned towards his visitor The Money Market Continued from page 2 British Railways he announced Extraordinary murmured Carlyle Not very said Carrados If someone dipped a stick in treacle and wrote Rats across a marble slab you would probably be able to distinguish what was there blindfold Probably admitted Mr Carlyle At all events we will not test the experiment
