James Collins probes the meaning and methods of historical interpretation in philosophy by analyzing the creative reciprocity between the modern source thinkers the great classical philosophers from Descartes and Locke to Mill and Nietzsche and their midtwentieth century interpreters Originally published in 1972 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

A Discourse on the Method René Descartes, 2006-01-12 I concluded that I was a substance whose whole essence or nature resides only in thinking and which in order to exist has no need of place and is not dependent on any material thing Descartes's A Discourse on the Method of Correctly Conducting One's Reason and Seeking Truth in the Sciences marks a watershed in European thought in it the author provides an informal intellectual autobiography in the vernacular for a non specialist readership sweeps away all previous philosophical traditions and sets out in brief his radical new philosophy which begins with a proof of the existence of the self the famous cogito ergo sum next deduces from it the existence and nature of God and ends by offering a radical new account of the physical world and of human and animal nature This new translation is accompanied by a substantial introductory essay which draws on Descartes's correspondence to examine his motivation and the impact of his great work on his contemporaries Detailed notes explain his philosophical terminology and ideas

Light in a Socio-Cultural Perspective Ronit Milano, 2018-04-18 The awareness of light as both a concept and a phenomenon existed long before it became a matter of scientific interest This volume investigates the many ways in which light has been conceptualized throughout history Employing different methodological approaches derived from various disciplines in the humanities the essays gathered here situate the concept of light within discourses on gender religion intellectual life politics art and digital culture Through diverse perspectives light is defined in some cases synchronically as a physical phenomenon a visual tool and a philosophic idea This book combines the fields of intellectual studies religion literature and visual culture to explore the complexities of conceptual paradigms that represent various manifestations of the idea of light Through original readings the contributing authors present a range of scholarly perspectives offering new interpretations of the idea of light and its history within the humanities

Discourse on Method and the Meditations René Descartes, 1968 René Descartes was a central figure in the scientific revolution of the seventeenth century In his Discourse on Method he outlined the contrast between mathematics and experimental sciences and the extent to which each one can achieve certainty Drawing on his own work in geometry optics astronomy and physiology Descartes developed the hypothetical method that characterizes modern science and this soon came to replace the traditional techniques derived from Aristotle Many of Descartes most radical ideas such as the disparity between our perceptions and the realities that cause them have been highly influential in the development of modern philosophy

Evidence in the Age of the New Sciences James A.T. Lancaster, Richard Raiswell, 2018-10-24 The motto of the Royal Society Nullius in verba was intended to highlight the members rejection of received knowledge and the new place they afforded direct empirical evidence in their quest for genuine useful knowledge about the world But while many studies have raised questions about the construction reception and authentication of knowledge Evidence in the Age of the New Sciences is the first to examine the problem of evidence at this pivotal moment in European intellectual history What constituted evidence and for whom Where might it be found How should it be collected and organized What is the relationship between evidence and proof These are crucial questions for what constitutes evidence determines how people interrogate the world and the kind of arguments they make about it In this important new collection Lancaster and Raiswell have assembled twelve studies that capture aspects of the debate over evidence in a variety of intellectual contexts From law and theology to geography medicine and experimental philosophy the chapters highlight the great diversity of approaches to evidence gathering that existed side by side in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries In this way the volume makes an important addition to the literature on early science and knowledge formation and will be of particular interest to scholars and advanced students in these fields

Science For A Polite Society Geoffrey V. Sutton, 2018-02-06 Traditional accounts of the scientific revolution focus on such thinkers as Copernicus Galileo and Newton and usually portray it as a process of steady rational progress There is another side to this story and its protagonists are more likely to be women than men dilettante aristocrats than highly educated natural philosophers The setting is not the laboratory but rather the literary salons of seventeenth and eighteenth century France and the action takes place sometime between Europe s last great witch hunts and the emergence of the modern world Science for a Polite Society is an intriguing reexamination of the social cultural and intellectual context of the origins of modern science The elite of French society accepted science largely because of their personal involvement and fascination with the emerging philosophy of nature Members of salon society especially women were avid readers of works of natural philosophy and active participants in experiments for the edification of their peers Some of these women went on to champion the new science and played a significant role in securing its acceptance by polite society As Geoffrey Sutton points out the sheer entertainment value of startling displays of electricity and chemical explosions would have played an important role in persuading the skeptical We can only imagine the effects of such drawing room experiments on an audience that lived in a world illuminated by tallow candles For many leaping electrical arcs and window rattling detonations must have been as convincing as Newton s mathematically elegant description of the motions of the planets With the acceptance and triumph of the new science came a prestige that made it a model of what rationality should be The Enlightenment adopted the methods of scientific thought as the model for human progress To be an enlightened thinker meant believing that the application of scientific methods could reform political and economic life to the lasting benefit of humanity We live with the ambiguous results of that legacy even today although in our own century we are perhaps more impressed by the ability of science to frighten rather than to awe and entertain Art, Animals, and Experience Elizabeth Sutton, 2017-04-21 Cover Title Copyright Dedication Contents List of Figures List of Color Plates Acknowledgments 1 Relational Ethics and Aesthetics Being and Thinking with Art and Animals Between Presence and Absence An Ethical Art History 2 Dogged Flesh Rembrandt's Presentation in the Temple c 1640 Real and Represented Dogs Rembrandt's Three R's Radical Reflective Revelatory The Rhetoric of Etching Fleshly Experience Past Made Present 3 Glances with Wolves Encounters with Little John and Joseph Beuys Entangled Encounters Seeing and Being with Little John Presencing Other Worlds Imaginative Empathy Gathering Together in the Gap 4 Glimpse into the Unknown Contemporary Taxidermy and Photography Spaces Between Yellow and Taza Respecting Unknowns Dominance Submission and Freedom Inert and Progression of Regression Death and the Object Ars longa vita brevis est From Hierarchy to Horizontality 5 We Are All Connected Experiencing Art and Nature at Horseshoe Canyon Guided by Dogs and Children We Are All Connected Dwelling with Dogs and Earth Accessing Histories with Attentive Care Art and Earth as Places of Emergence 6 Caring for Art and Animals Bibliography Index The Philosophical Writings of Descartes: Volume 1 René Descartes, 1984 A completely new translation of the works of Descartes is intended to replace the Haldane and Ross edition first published in 1911 All material from that edition is translated here with a number of other texts crucial for understanding Cartesian philosophy
