Discourses Of War And Peace Oxford Studies In Sociolinguistics:

Discourses of War and Peace Adam Hodges, 2013-06-18 Given the prevalence of war around the world it is vital to understand the way discourse contributes to the promotion and positioning of war as a natural or inevitable response to international problems. In addition it is equally necessary to examine the way discourse impacts projects of peace which seek to displace discourses of war with alternative visions of the world. This volume examines specific contexts around the world in which discourse operates in the service of war or to build alternative visions of peace. Contributors who have backgrounds in linguistics, anthropology, rhetoric and communication studies draw upon discourse analytic and ethnographic methods to examine the discourse used by politicians and social actors in societies across the globe including the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Morocco, Ireland, the Palestinian territories and Japan. The book is divided into four sections that foreground the political effects of discourse on issues of war and peace including the way discourse is harnessed to justify war: part I negotiate military deployment; part II respond to armed conflict; part III and promote peace; part IV.

The Discourse of Broadcast News Martin Montgomery, 2007-11-01 In this timely and important study Martin Montgomery unpicks the inside workings of what must still be considered the dominant news medium broadcast news Drawing principally on linguistics but multidisciplinary in its scope The Discourse of Broadcast News demonstrates that news programmes are as much about showing as telling as much about ordinary bystanders as about experts and as much about personal testimony as calling politicians to account Using close analysis of the discourse of television and radio news the book reveals how important conventions for presenting news are changing with significant consequences for the ways audiences understand its truthfulness Fully illustrated with examples and including detailed examination of the high profile case of ex BBC journalist Andrew Gilligan The Discourse of Broadcast News provides a comprehensive study which will challenge our current assumptions about the news The Discourse of Broadcast News will be a key resource for anyone researching the news whether they be students of language and linguistics media studies or communication studies

Currency Wars with China and Japan in Western Newsmagazines Damien Ng, 2022-02-27 This book explores China's currency wars with its trading partners in four Western newsmagazines Time The Economist L'Express and Der Spiegel Based on both quantitative and qualitative approaches the interdisciplinary approach adopted in the research draws on two analytical frameworks from the realm of critical discourse analysis van Leeuwen's socio semantic inventory of social actor representation and van Dijk's concepts of macro rules as the overarching approaches to understand the changing dynamics of international relations and the global economy through Western media The sample in this study consists of 160 texts half of which are focused on China and the other half on Japan across a period of 12 months in 2010 China and in 1987 Japan Through the comparison of Western representation between China and Japan the similarities and differences in their coverage have been revealed as even more striking with regards to global politics and the international economy The findings obtained from the empirical research have revealed that China was not only reported more unfavourably than Japan in terms of depth but also across a broader range of areas spanning economics politics and military affairs It has also emerged that all the four Western newsmagazines tended to centre their coverage on the US and China in 2010 and the US and Japan in 1987 although they did not speak in one collective voice with regard to their coverage of China and Japan
