Digital Economic Opportunity Committee, 2001 A digital divide a chasm between those with access to technology and training particularly workplace information technology IT skills and those without threatens the economic prosperity of American workers and America's competitiveness The most effective way to reduce digital disparities is to improve the education and training of the existing workforce In response to challenges to America's continuing competitiveness productivity and workforce employability the Digital Economic Opportunity Committee DEOC was formed to expand the digital workforce by identifying ways to broaden the base of workers with technical skills and to raise the technical skills of the existing workforce DEOC defined IT workers and found that in effect virtually every worker in the new economy is an IT worker or an IT enabled worker uses computers to perform job functions It viewed the issue as a skills gap not a worker shortage DEOC believed the appropriate response to this skills gap is two fold The first was upgrading existing worker skills through training Issues were basic training needs capacity funding and responsibility for training DEOC's solutions for building a digital workforce were to
