

The background of the cover is a detailed illustration of a rocky seabed. On the left, there are numerous small, yellowish-green, oval-shaped organisms, possibly limpets or small sea snails, clustered together. On the right, there are long, thin, green, blade-like structures, likely seaweed or eelgrass, hanging down. At the bottom, there are various larger marine organisms, including a prominent blue mussel with a white hinge, several brown and orange sea snails, and other smaller shellfish. The overall scene is a rich, textured representation of a marine ecosystem.
